LAW OFFICE OF STEPHEN SCARING

Part of being a lawyer is overcoming impossibility. And staring down adversity is just part of the routine for this attorney who started as an ADA and Chief of the Homicide Bureau in Nassau County before serving as a Special Prosecutor in Suffolk County and Associate Professor of Law and Psychiatry at CW Post College. He is also a former president of the Theodore Roosevelt American Inn of Court. This attorney has been called "unbeatable" by opponents and peers alike for his successful handling of cases. In fact, he has had so many headlines, he is practically a media persona himself.
